

Hurricane devastation in the central highlands of Guatemala - 2010, near San Juan Comalapa, Chimaltenango

Many houses in the small highland villages were completely destroyed by mud slides and flood waters. These subsistence farmers lost most of their crops, so they face hunger and starvation as well as homelessness.

The few blocks that formed the corner of his house are all that remains. Many people were lost in the mud, although many were saved.

Many homeless families are now sheltering in the local church which survived intact.

Emmaus h.o.m.e. is raising money for food and clothing which is being distributed by Emmaus San Juan.
